Smart Lighting

For a few years now boatbuilders have been spicing up the look of new models with colored mood lighting, underwater lights, and even lighted drink holders so you can find your cold one in the dark.

Remote Monitoring

No question boats are getting more and more connected, and the newest cloud-based remote monitoring systems let you keep tabs on everything to do with your boat by just glancing at your phone. Check battery levels to ensure you have enough charge, and that the bilge pumps came on automatically to deal with the previous night's rain.

More Soft Decking

It used to be that all boat decks were either fiberglass non-skid, or soft marine carpet. But today, you're far more likely to find your new ride decked with soft-touch foam. Foam has massive advantages over either non-skid or carpet, which is why it's quickly becoming the new standard. It's a lot softer on bare feet than non-skid, for one thing, while offering even better non-slip protection. Foam is a lot easier to clean than carpet, and it dries in minutes

Tips

How to Winterize Your Boat

Follow our tips for winterizing, and your boat will be ready and eager to go in the spring.

Fuel Treatment

Treat your boat's fuel with a stabilizer. Pennzoil Fuel Stabilizer, PRI-G and Stabil are ideal products for this job. After adding it to the fuel, run the engine for 10 minutes or so to be sure stabilized fuel circulates throughout the engine. If you don't stabilize the fuel, carburetors and fuel injectors can be clogged with varnish deposits that ruin fuel systems.

Fog the Engine Cylinders

Aerosol fogging solutions coat the inside of the engine to protect it until spring. Each engine manufacturer makes proprietary products they promote as ideal for their engines. Hook "ear muffs" and a garden hose to the engine, start it, and then spray the fogging-solution lubricant directly into the air intake until it's gone. If you don't fog the engine cylinders, corrosion can form inside the engine, covering the cylinders, pistons and rings with a patina of abrasive crud.

Drain the Engine

Locate and open the petcocks (some engines have bronze plugs similar to bilge plugs) underneath the manifolds and on the sides of the engine block. Remove the water-pump hose from the bottom of the water pump to let it drain completely. If you don't drain the engine, water in the cooling chambers can freeze, expand and crack the engine block and manifolds.

Tips

Change the Oil

Change engine oil to eliminate moisture and prevent corrosion. If you don't, moisture can cause excessive wear, which can lead to loss of power, poor fuel economy and possible engine failure. Tip: Some mechanics change the oil both in the fall and at spring breakout on the theory that the engine oil needs to be changed at the end of the summer and after suffering the ravages of winter because moisture may again accumulate in the oil.

Drain the Gear-Case Lubricant

Clear, amber-colored lubricant means your gear-case seals are in good shape. Milky and sometimes lumpy oil means the seals need to be replaced. Tip: The time to do this is in the fall when marine mechanics are less busy and sometimes willing to offer special prices for winter work.

Too many boats die silently in their winter beds. But follow these easy tips, and your boat will be ready and eager to go in the spring.

Butternut Squash Mac & Cheese

Ingredients

- 1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 pound macaroni
- Salt & Black pepper
- 1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 medium onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped thyme
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 2 cups chicken stock
- 10 ounces frozen, cooked
butternut squash, defrosted
- 1 cup cream
- 2 cups (8 ounces) sharp Cheddar
- 1/2 cup grated Parmigiano-Reggiano
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

RECIPE COURTESY OF RACHAEL RAY

How to Make

1. Heat a pot of water to boil for the pasta.
2. Add the pasta and cook to al dente or, with a bite to it.
3. While pasta cooks, heat a medium heavy bottomed pot over medium heat.
4. Add the extra-virgin olive oil and butter. When the butter melts into the oil, add the thyme and grate the onion directly into the pot with a hand held grater.
5. Cook the grated onion in butter and oil 1 to 2 minutes, then add flour and cook together 1 to 2 more minutes.
6. Whisk in stock, then combine with butternut squash until warmed through.
7. Stir in cream or half-and-half and bring sauce to a bubble.
8. Stir in cheeses in a figure 8 motion and season the completed sauce.
9. Drain cooked pasta well and combine with sauce.
10. Taste to adjust seasonings.

In Honor of

Q.

What happened when the turkey got into a fight?

A.

He got the stuffing knocked out of him!

Pedro:

I was going to serve sweet potatoes with Thanksgiving dinner, but I sat on them.

Westy:

What are you serving now?

Pedro:

Squash. LOL
